Focus Discipline Selection

Applicant name:

A key part of your application is the selection of your focus discipline. Please read the following instructions carefully before making your choice:

- You must choose one primary focus discipline from the options below. This selection is a mandatory part of the admission process.
- Your admission to the program is directly linked to this selection. Please note that we evaluate each application based on the applicant's prior academic knowledge and previous field of study to ensure compatibility with the chosen discipline.
- The focus you select determines the department in which you will conduct your research and write your Master's thesis at the end of your studies.
- While your primary focus defines your core area and thesis department, the program remains flexible. You will have the opportunity to supplement your studies by choosing elective modules from other departments to round out your academic profile.

Please select your intended focus discipline:

Anthropology

Development economics

Geography

History

Political science

Course details and curriculum:

For a detailed overview of the specific modules, learning outcomes, and thematic areas of each focus discipline, please consult our module handbook. We strongly recommend reviewing this document before making your final selection.
